Update note (v1.0.9)

A short, readable summary of what changed in the current version.

Highlights

- Improved label spacing and readability across more chart zoom levels.
- Optional soft-confirm filter for EARLY labels to reduce transient prints.
- Light-mode palette tuning and general contrast improvements.
- Risk-colored price line readability improvements (optional overlay).
- Ongoing quality-of-life + robustness improvements.

What stayed the same

- The core XRP confirmation logic is designed to be stable.
- This is an educational tool. Use it as an input, not as an authority.
- Always validate alerts against your own plan and risk management.

Note: Updates focus on clarity and robustness, not on promising higher returns. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results.
